Presidential Message

As President-Elect of ENAR, it is my great pleasure to invite you to partner with us for the 2027 ENAR Spring Meeting. As one of the world's premier communities for biostatisticians, ENAR brings together academic researchers, government scientists, industry leaders, and trainees to advance statistical innovation that improves health and strengthens scientific discovery.

The 2027 meeting theme, Statistics in Action: Advancing Evidence for Grassroots Health and Policy Change, reflects ENAR's longstanding commitment to developing rigorous statistical methods that translate into meaningful improvements in health, public policy, and society.

The strength of ENAR lies not only in the excellence of its science, but also in the vibrant and welcoming community that makes our annual meeting such a rewarding experience. Your partnership would enable us to deliver outstanding scientific programming, support students and early-career investigators, foster connections across sectors, and ensure that our meeting remains an accessible and inclusive forum for exchanging ideas.

With your support, we can continue to cultivate the next generation of statistical scientists while advancing cutting-edge research that improves health.

Fostering Excellence in Biostatistics Workshop

March 2027 | TBD
Event Check-In: TBD

The Fostering Excellence in Biostatistics Workshop is a day-long workshop that has been held at the ENAR Spring Meeting since 1999. Its goal is to encourage more quantitatively skilled early-career scholars from broad-ranging backgrounds to pursue degrees in Biostatistics and foster their active participation and contributions to the field. Workshop activities include career and graduate school panels, roundtable discussions, breakout sessions on scientific writing and R coding, and many opportunities for networking and outreach. The Workshop has primarily provided travel support for undergraduate students to attend, while including high school students, current graduate students in (bio)statistics programs, as well as faculty members who primarily mentor high school and undergraduate students. We encourage applicants from a wide range of backgrounds to apply for the workshops, e.g. different locations of the country, types of universities (e.g., private, state, community colleges, liberal arts), economic and educational backgrounds, as well as academic fields of study (e.g., biology, mathematics, public health, computer science). The Workshop has become so popular that for the past several years demand has well exceeded available spaces of approximately 100 per offering.

EARLY CAREER WORKSHOP SERIES

Monday, March 15 - Wednesday, March 17, 2027

ENAR is bringing back the Junior Researchers Workshop in a new, modern hybrid format titled the Early Career Workshop Series! We're updating the program to have four tracks, covering Industry, Government, Academia Methodology Researcher, and Academia Team Scientist Collaborator. At the ENAR Spring Meeting, the first Early Career Workshop Series cohort will attend three workshop-specific sessions covering broad topics such as communicating your work and your value, developing and maintaining your network, and navigating a new environment with an early eye towards promotion and success. After the Spring Meeting, the cohort will together participate in virtual programming. We're excited to reintroduce this opportunity for our early-career members and to continue to build the ENAR community.

March 14-17, 2027 • Boston, MA

Because the Eastern North American Region of the International Biometric Society is a non-profit organization, sponsorships are a critical part of both the Spring Meeting and the continuity of the organization itself.

Meeting sponsorships allow us to provide affordable rates and support the administrative costs associated with running the organization, like this website, for example.

Sponsorships also gain your organization great visibility!

Your support is very important and much appreciated!
